THE SEVEN FAMILIES GAME

TYPE OF ACTIVITY: whole class, matching and combining

FUNCTION PRACTISED: talking about families

EXPONENT: What's your \ your wife's \ husband's \ daughter's \ son's name?

Where do you live?

How old are you \ your children?

How old is your husband \ wife?

How many children \ brothers and sisters have you got?

LEXICAL AREA: family relationships

ESSENTIAL VOCABULARY: mother, father, sister, brother, wife, husband, parents; numbers 1 to 50

HOW TO USE THE GAME

The game may be played with 4 to 25 students. If there are over 25 students in the class, the game may be played in two groups.

There are seven families described on the cards:

1. John, Mary, Peter and Jill (Bristol)
2. John, Mary, Peter and Jill (Newcastle)
3. Steve and Mary (aged23)
4. Steve and Mary (aged25)
5. Steve, Anne, Tom, Pat and Robert (Newcastle)
6. Steve, Anne, Tom, Pat and Robert (Bristol)
7. John, Anne and Peter

Copy one card for every student in the class, but make sure that the total adds up to a number of complete families.

Give out the cards to the students and allow a little time for them to familiarize themselves with the details on the cards.

The object of the game is for everyone to find the other members of their family. To do this they must move around the room, asking questions to identify the other members of the family.

Emphasize that students should try to find out all the information about the people they think may belong to their family.
